Nigel McGilchrist (N.McG.) is an art historian who has lived in the Mediterranean—Italy, Greece and Turkey—for over twenty-five years, working for a period for the Italian Ministry of Arts and then for six years as Director of the Anglo-Italian Institute in Rome. He has taught at the University of Rome, for the University of Massachusetts, and was for seven years Dean of European Studies for a consortium of American universities. He lectures widely in art and archaeology at museums and institutions in Europe and the United States, and lives near Orvieto.

Charles Freeman (C.F.) is a freelance academic historian with a long-standing interest in Italy and the Mediterranean. His Egypt, Greece and Rome, Civilizations of the Ancient Mediterranean (second edition, Oxford University Press, 2004) is widely used as an introductory textbook to the ancient world. His most recent book, The Horses of St.Mark's (Little Brown, 2004), is a study of the famous horses through their history in Constantinople and Venice. He leads study tours of Italy for the Historical Association and has recently been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

Alexandra Massini (A.M.) is an art historian educated at the Courtauld Institute of Art, London. She was born in Rome, where she now lives teaching art history courses for Italy-based US Universities such as Rutgers and Vanderbilt. In the past she has worked for Sotheby's, the Thyssen Museum in Madrid and a number of cultural associations in Italy and Europe, as well as working as a freelance writer and organising art exhibits and cultural events.

Lord Michael Pratt is a freelance author and researcher, who has published books on the history of the Ionian Islands, and Nelson's Duchy, a study of the Sicilian Duchy of Bronte which was given to Nelson. He has also written Great Country Houses of Central Europe, which was translated into four languages. It is a study of the great country houses of Poland, the Czech Republic and Hungary, and is currently being translated into those three languages. He divides his time between England and Italy.
