The authors

Alta Macadam has been a writer of Blue Guides since 1970. She lives with her Italian family in Florence, where she has been associated with the Bargello museum, the Alinari photo archive, Harvard University at Villa I Tatti, and New York University at Villa La Pietra. Her Americans in Florence was published in 2003 (Giunti, Florence). As author of the Blue Guides to Florence, Rome, Tuscany, Umbria and Venice, she travels extensively every year to revise new editions. For this guide she wrote the chapters on Umbria, Tuscany, and northern Lazio.

Ellen Grady Journalist, interpreter and tour guide, Ellen Grady was born in London but has lived in Italy for many years. She is the author of Blue Guide Sicily and Blue Guide The Marche & San Marino. For this guide she wrote the chapters on the Marche and southern Lazio.

The contributors

Charles Freeman (C.F.) is a freelance academic historian with a long-standing interest in Italy and the Mediterranean. His Egypt, Greece and Rome, Civilizations of the Ancient Mediterranean (2nd edition, Oxford University Press, 2004) is widely used as an introductory textbook to the ancient world. His latest book, AD 381, Heretics, Pagans and the Christian State was published in the UK in February 2008. He leads study tours of Italy for the Historical Association and has recently been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

Nigel McGilchrist (N.McG.) is an art historian who has lived in the Mediterranean—Italy, Greece and Turkey—for over 25 years, working for a period for the Italian Ministry of Arts and then for six years as Director of the Anglo-Italian Institute in Rome. He has taught at the University of Rome, for the University of Massachusetts, and was for seven years Dean of European Studies for a consortium of American universities. He lectures widely in art and archaeology at museums and institutions in Europe and the United States, and lives near Orvieto. He is currently writing the new Blue Guide to the Aegean Islands of Greece.

Susan Jellis (S.J.) is a freelance writer, editor and lexicographer. She was one of the original editors of the Cambridge International Dictionary of English, and was Managing Editor of the Encarta dictionary series. She has a long-standing interest in garden history, with a qualification from Birkbeck College, London, and a special interest in the gardens of the ancient Roman world. Currently she is involved in researching gardens for the London-wide 'Open Garden Squares Weekend' annual event.

Annabel Barber (A.B.) is Editor-in-Chief of the Blue Guides.
